Whatever it takes.

Are You Still Creating a “Buzz” with Your Programs?

It's very important to take a closer look at how you are showing appreciation and recognizing employees. Employees value recognition over compensation more now than at any other time in history. Employees want their managers and supervisors to recognize all of their efforts in new and meaningful ways.

Service Recognition through Lasting Image is easy. Our programs and products provide you with creative ways to reward achievements and loyalty, recognize years of service, and motivate employees.

Systems to Make It Personal

Lasting Image wants your program to be a personal experience for your employees. We have developed our systems to make it easy for you and your managers to recognize employees on a personal level. Our systems provide the following for your team:

- Award packages that arrive in a timely manner to recognize employees
- Reports to remind managers of employee anniversary dates
- Managers receive monthly report detailing employees who have not redeemed gifts

Let us make your program more personal without spending any more of your time to do so.

What Our Clients Are Saying...

Our employees feel special.

"Our employees love the gift selection you offer, which is much larger and more personalized than other systems we have been part of. We had rave reviews on not only the selection, but also about how your team makes our employees feel special. We have found your organization to be flexible, easy to do business with, and very accommodating."

Extremely easy as promised

"You promised making it easy to change, that caught our attention. Your team really pulled this together for us. We submitted a list of employees and your team did the rest. When it was all set up, you presented us with a complete program. It really was easy."

Created a "BUZZ".

"You have provided a selection of recognition gifts that match our demographics, which has really created a "buzz" with our employees."
